Commentary

June 2024 Investment Summary

June 2024 was a positive month for the the Passive range with returns ranging from +0.97% for Passive 5 to +1.12% for Passive 1. P Acc share class with data sourced from FE analytics as at 28 June 2024.

June 2024 was a better month for portfolios generally.

Most major equity markets rose in June led by the US and emerging markets, with the Nasdaq as the S&P 500 climbed to further all-time highs, led by robust earnings reports and continued enthusiasm towards artificial intelligence (AI). Information technology and Communication Services led the sector-wise performance while Utilities lagged. The FTSE 100 and Stoxx Europe 600 were flat over the month with a focus on the upcoming elections in the UK and France.

The US labour market government data beat expectations to show payrolls increased by 206,000 in June, higher than forecasts, but down from the previous month. Evidence that the US labour market remains strong albeit slightly cooling has dampened hopes of imminent interest rates cuts. US consumer confidence eased in June, as households remain concerned over the economic outlook but are more upbeat about a moderation in inflation over the next year and the strength of the labour market. Unemployment data ticked up slightly to 4.1% from 4.0% and the first time its surpassed 4% since November 2021.

Tensions in the Middle East continue as fears over an all-out conflict have intensified in recent weeks, following threatening rhetoric from both camps. The US and France seek de-escalation between Israel and Lebanon's Hizbollah which remains dangerously poised. The conflicts Impact remains limited on the global economy. Brent Crude prices have risen to over $86/barrel from $79/barrel in June, as refineries gear up for the summer driving season and traders fret over renewed tensions in the Middle East.

More central banks may be in a position to ease policy rates later this year, but employment activity and inflation data over the next few months will be critical to the evolution of their thinking. The US economy continues to look strong, but other regions, including the Eurozone, face more challenging conditions. This could lead to diverging rate cutting cycles and opportunities in relative value trades.

Officials remain cautious to confirm when interest rate cuts will be implemented, with a careful eye on data to ensure a sustainable route back to the inflation target.

WS Prudential Risk Managed Passive - Tactical asset allocation activity

*Our equity position is currently +1%, made up of a diversified basket across the US, UK, Asia, GEM. This is funded from a small European credit and cash underweights, with an overweight to US Treasuries.
