Prudential Risk Rating

Higher Risk

These are specialist equity funds that focus on set geographical regions or a particular type of share e.g. shares of smaller companies or those that conform to certain criteria.

These risk ratings have been developed by Prudential to help provide an indication of a fund's potential level of risk and reward based on the type of assets which may be held by the fund. Other companies may use different descriptions and as such these risk ratings should not be considered as generic across the fund management industry.

We regularly review our fund risk ratings, so they may change in the future. If, in our view, there is a material change in the fund's level of risk, for example due to a significant change to the assets held by the fund or in the way the fund is managed, we will provide information on the new risk rating. We recommend that you make sure you understand the risk rating of any fund before you invest.

You should also consider discussing your decision and the appropriateness of a fund's risk rating with an adviser.

Important Information

- Some funds may invest in 'underlying' funds or other investment vehicles. The performance of our fund, compared to what it's invested in won't be exactly the same. That can be due to additional charges, cash management (needed to help people to enter and leave our fund when they want), tax and the timing of investments (this is known as a fund's dealing cycle, it varies between managers and can be several days).

Prudential BlackRock Aquila UK Equity Index S3

Commentary

Performance as at Q2 2024 - Over the month, UK yields trended lower with a curve steepening bias as 2-year yields fell 4bps more than the 10-year, and 9bps more than the 30-year. This trend was driven by a combination of factors such as the French election news, which spurred a flight to safety across developed market government bonds. In the UK, this news came alongside dovish communications from the Bank of England, with markets now pricing in a rate cut for September, despite wage data and CPI (Consumer Price Index) prints showing continued resilience. A similar trend of lower yields and curve steepening was seen across developed market government bonds. In Europe, the European Central Bank's interest rate cut marked the start of the cutting cycle – the effects of which were compounded by the French election news. In the US, the effects of these events were further spurred by weaker data releases over the month.
