Interim management report

The six months to 31 July 2023 saw a reduction in the asset price volatility of 2022. The NAV Total Return was -8.3% for the Ordinary Shares and 0.3% for the C Shares, which retained material exposure to US Treasury Bills during the period. The share price discounts to NAV of both the Ordinary Shares and the C Shares widened during the period to 39.9% and 50.4% respectively.

Public markets performed relatively strongly over the period, and the largest positive contributors to NAV performance of each of the share classes included public holdings Wise, Affirm, Airbnb as well as a new holding, Oddity, which is described in more detail in the Portfolio section below. Private company valuations lagged public markets over the period, and the largest detractors from NAV performance of the Ordinary Shares were Scopely and Indigo Agriculture.

The operational performance within your portfolio remained solid. Mean average revenue growth was 30%. By capital weighting, 22% of your portfolio comprised profitable companies, and 4% of companies with less than a year of cash runway remaining. Of the remaining companies, the mean average years of remaining cash runway was over four years. In practice, we are seeing companies across the board make strong progress towards becoming financially self-sustaining, through a mix of cost-cutting and top-line growth delivering operating leverage benefits.

We have continued to prospect globally for the best long-term growth investment opportunities in the later stages of the private markets. This has involved thematic work in supply chains, large language models, semiconductor design and emerging sports formats. Team members have also been spending time on the ground in South-East and East Asia, Australia, Israel, mainland Europe, Mexico, Brazil and of course the USA.

Following the Silicon Valley Bank crisis and Stripe's very public 50% down-round in the first quarter of 2023, pricing expectations among management teams have begun to normalise. This has been uneven between geographies. The US remains the market with the widest price expectations gap between companies and investors. We have seen more reasonable pricing expectations in Europe, Israel and Korea. China is its own story, with a continued forced sell-off of the more liquid names by American investors. We are trying to strike a balance between understanding our limited ability to assess geopolitical black swan risks, and the increasingly bargain-basement prices we are being offered for stakes in remarkable businesses.

Portfolio

During the six months to 31 July, we made one new investment in Oddity. We committed to another in Bending Spoons, which completed shortly after the period end.

Oddity is an Israeli-American company in the skincare space. This has been a sector that has resisted the attack of direct-to-consumer online brands, in no small part due to the large role try-before-you-buy plays in the shopping journey. Where direct-to-consumer brands have emerged, they have struggled with reliable product matching and hence have had to endure high return rates. Advances in cameras and image recognition technology have now begun to enable purely online channels to challenge the department store paradigm. Oddity has additionally been developing expertise in personalised medical skincare, with significant current investment in custom acne creams.

Bending Spoons is an Italian company that specialises in identifying American software-as-a-service businesses with under-monetised products and expensive cost bases. They acquire them, integrate them into their own technology systems, and then work to grow them using much cheaper and higher quality Italian software talent.

Their track record of restoring slow-growing American consumer apps to rapid and profitable growth is remarkable.

There are some common features to these businesses. Neither was on the venture capital ecosystem's radar. Both have capital frugal cultures that have enabled them to create profitable businesses without relying on regular infusions of venture capital. Both chose to partner with Baillie Gifford as part of their planned journey to public markets. Indeed, Oddity went public in July, with an IPO at a higher price than our investment in private markets, making it the largest contributor to NAV performance for the C Shares.

We have also continued to strategically reinvest in holdings. In January 2022, we set aside a sleeve of capital to ensure we would be able to support companies through the approaching period of market turbulence. At the end of the reporting period, a third of this sleeve remains. As ever, follow-on financing for portfolio companies is not guaranteed. It is conditional on continued operating performance and is price sensitive. There have been hard conversations during the period. In some cases, this has led holdings to recapitalise at much lower valuations; in other cases, it has driven them to seek strategic options. However, where performance has warranted, we have continued to support. During the period, we topped up your positions in McMakler, Stripe and Heartflow.

The period also saw the acquisition announcement for Scopely, the American mobile games company in your portfolio. We first invested in Scopely in October 2019 at a $1.8bn valuation. Savvy Games agreed to acquire it for a $4.9bn valuation in April 2023.

Private company valuations

Whilst the Scopely sale was clearly a good investment result, the acquisition price was beneath our NAV carrying value estimate, making it among the largest detractors to performance from the Ordinary Shares during the six-month period. Over the reporting period, there were 236 revaluation events, with 41% of holdings being revalued three or more times. The average movement at the private company level was -10.9%.

Unlike many of our peers, who often hold investments at last transaction value, we adjust our estimated carrying values using live market data from public market companies deemed comparable by an independent third party. The net effect of this is to estimate a NAV for Schiehallion that is 18% below where it would be, if we were recording values as-at-last-transaction.

This leads to questions of how predictive our NAV estimates are. We look to undertake back-testing work whenever there is a real price discovery event. When these events occur, our aim is to achieve a balance of increases and decrease in carrying valuations, since this would indicate unbiased estimation. Since the start of 2022, we have had fifteen real price discovery events across all Baillie Gifford private holdings. On five occasions this has led to the need to mark down a valuation, and on ten it has led to the need to increase. This suggests that our valuation estimation process is at present marginally conservative. The overall average movement was +10%, with the distribution of moves being fairly evenly distributed at +/- 30%. This is wider than the +/- 20% margin the valuations team aims for in their estimates. (However, if one strips out the two furthest outliers, they would have landed within the target range, despite the last eighteen months of greatly increased market volatility).

C Share conversion

In August, the Board announced that the C Shares proceeds were 86.6% deployed. The calculation date for the conversion of the C Shares into Ordinary Shares was 31 August, and the conversion ratio of 0.7601 Ordinary Shares for each C Share was announced on 7 September. The new Ordinary Shares will be admitted to trading on 12 September.

Looking forward

Following the conversion of the C Shares, Schiehallion will have total net assets of approximately $1,095m, diversified across 46 companies, with cash and Treasury Bills of approximately $162m. We believe that this leaves the Company well placed to support and build positions in companies that are executing well and where we see attractive valuations.

The principal risks and uncertainties are set out on the inside front cover of this report.

Valuing private companies

We aim to hold our private company investments at 'fair value', i.e. the price that would be paid in an open-market transaction. Valuations are adjusted both during regular valuation cycles and on an ad hoc basis in response to 'trigger events'. Our valuation process ensures that private companies are valued in both a fair and timely manner.

The valuation process is overseen by a valuations group at Baillie Gifford, which takes advice from an independent third party (S&P Global). The valuations group is independent from the investment team with all voting members being from different operational areas of the firm, and the investment managers only receive final valuation notifications once they have been applied.

We revalue the private holdings on a three-month rolling cycle, with one-third of the holdings reassessed each month. During stable market conditions, and assuming all else is equal, each investment would be valued two times in a 6-month period. For Schiehallion and our investment trusts, the prices are also reviewed twice per year by the respective boards and are subject to the scrutiny of external auditors in the annual audit process.

Beyond the regular cycle, the valuations team also monitors the portfolio for certain 'trigger events'. These may include changes in fundamentals, a takeover approach, an intention to carry out an Initial Public Offering ('IPO'), company news which is identified by the valuation team or by the portfolio managers, or meaningful changes to the valuation of comparable public companies. Any ad hoc change to the fair valuation of any holding is implemented swiftly and reflected in the next published net asset value ('NAV'). There is no delay.

The valuations team also monitors relevant market indices on a weekly basis and updates valuations in a manner consistent with our external valuer's (S&P Global) most recent valuation report where appropriate.

Continued market volatility has meant that recent pricing has moved much more frequently than would have been the case with the quarterly valuations cycle. The data below quantifies the revaluations carried out during the 6 months to 31 July 2023, however doesn't reflect the ongoing monitoring of the private investment portfolio that hasn't resulted in a change in valuation.

* Data reflecting period 1 February 2023 to 31 July 2023 a period of increased valuations due to ongoing market volatility.

Year to date, most revaluations have been decreases, with a small number of companies raising capital at an increased valuation. The average movement in company valuations and share prices for those are shown below.

* Data reflecting period from 1 February 2023 to 31 July 2023.

During the 6 month period ended 31 July 2023 we've written down some of the valuations as a result of company specific circumstances which have challenged the economic reality of the liquidation preferences. This has contributed to the divergence in the average movement in valuation at instrument level in comparison to the underlying company value.

Baillie Gifford statement on stewardship

Reclaiming activism for long-term investors

Baillie Gifford's over-arching ethos is that we are 'Actual' investors. We have a responsibility to behave as supportive and constructively engaged long-term investors. We invest in companies at different stages in their evolution, across many different industries and geographies, and we focus on their unique circumstances and opportunities.

Consequently, we are wary of prescriptive policies and rules, believing these often run counter to thoughtful and beneficial corporate stewardship. Our approach favours a small number of simple principles which help shape our interactions with companies and give appropriate latitude to diverse processes of our different investment teams. These principles do not all have to be positively reflected in each holding our teams acquire.

Our stewardship principles for public companies

Prioritisation of long-term value creation

We encourage our holdings to be ambitious, focusing on long-term value creation and capital deployment for growth. Helping management to resist demands from shareholders with shorter horizons than ours can at times be an important way to achieve better investment outcomes.

We regard it as our responsibility to encourage holdings away from destructive financial engineering and towards activities that create genuine economic and stakeholder value over the long run. We are happy that our value will often be in supporting management when others don't.

A constructive and purposeful board

We believe that boards play a key role in supporting corporate success and representing the interests of all capital providers. There is no fixed formula, but we expect boards to have the resources, information, cognitive and experiential diversity they need to fulfil these responsibilities. We believe good governance works best when there are diverse skill sets and perspectives, paired with an inclusive culture and strong independent representation with sufficient time to assist, advise and constructively challenge the thinking of management.

Long-term focused remuneration with stretching targets

We look for remuneration policies that are simple, transparent and reward superior strategic and operational endeavour. We believe incentive schemes can be important drivers of behaviour, and encourage policies which create genuine long-term alignment with external significant payouts to executives if these are commensurate with outstanding long-run value creation, but plans should not reward mediocre outcomes or short-termism. We generally think that performance hurdles should be skewed towards long-term results and that remuneration plans should be subject to shareholder approval.

Fair treatment of stakeholders

We believe it is in the long-term interests of all companies to maintain strong relationships with stakeholders – including employees, customers, suppliers, regulators and the communities they work within. We do not believe in one-size-fits-all policies and recognise that operating policies, governance and ownership structures may need to vary according to circumstance. Nonetheless, we believe the principles of fairness, transparency and accountability should be prioritised at all appropriate times.

Sustainable business practices

We believe an entity's long-term success is dependent on maintaining its social licence to operate and look for holdings to work within the spirit and not just the letter of the laws and regulations that govern them. We expect all holdings to consider how their actions impact society, both directly and indirectly, and how such actions may impact their long-term success. Environmental practices should recognise the current pace of change in opportunities, risks and societal expectations. Climate change, environmental impact, social inclusion, tax and fair treatment of workers should be addressed at board level, with appropriately ambitious policies and targets focused on the relevant material dimensions. Boards and senior management with superior prospects for long-term value creation should understand, regularly review and disclose information relevant to such targets publicly, alongside plans for ongoing improvement.

They have been prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS). ### Equity investment

The ordinary shares and C shares of the Company are classified as equity in accordance with the definition of equity instruments under IAS 32 Financial Instruments: presentation (IAS 32). The proceeds from the issue of shares are recognised in the Statement of Changes in Equity net of incremental issuance costs.

Going concern

In accordance with The Financial Reporting Council's guidance on going concern and liquidity risk, the Directors have undertaken a rigorous review of the Company's ability to continue as a going concern.

In undertaking this review, the Board has considered the Company's principal risks and uncertainties, as set out on the inside front cover, and in particular considered the impact of heightened market volatility due to macroeconomic and geopolitical concerns, including the Russia-Ukraine war and heightened tensions between China and both the USA and Taiwan. Liquidity stress testing has been carried out and having done so the Board does not believe the Company's going concern status is affected. The Company maintains sufficient cash balances to enable it to meet its liabilities as they fall due.

In managing the Company's assets, the Investment Manager will seek to ensure that the Company holds at all times a proportion of assets that is sufficiently liquid to enable it to discharge its payment obligations.

Accordingly, the Financial Statements have been prepared on the going concern basis as it is the Directors' opinion, having assessed the principal risks and uncertainties, that the Company will continue in operational existence for a period of at least 12 months from the date of approval of these Financial Statements.

Fair value hierarchy

The fair value hierarchy used to analyse the fair values of financial assets is described below. The levels are determined by the lowest (that is the least reliable or least independently observable) level of input that is significant to the fair value measurement for the individual investment in its entirety as follows:

Level 1 – using unadjusted quoted prices for identical instruments in an active market;

Level 2 – using inputs, other than quoted prices included within Level 1, that are directly or indirectly observable (based on market data); and

Level 3 – using inputs that are unobservable (for which market data is unavailable).

As at 31 July 2023	Level 1 US$'000	Level 2 US$'000	Level 3 US$'000	Total US$'000
Listed equities	171,680	-	-	171,680
Unlisted ordinary shares	-	-	102,233	102,233
Unlisted preference shares*	-	-	635,916	635,916
Unlisted convertible promissory notes	-	-	12,143	12,143
Total financial asset investments	171,680	-	750,292	921,972

As at 31 January 2023	Level 1 US$'000	Level 2 US$'000	Level 3 US$'000	Total US$'000
Listed equities	119,018	-	-	119,018
Unlisted ordinary shares	-	-	131,977	131,977
Unlisted preference shares*	-	-	708,914	708,914
Unlisted convertible promissory notes	-	-	12,123	12,123
Total financial asset investments	119,018	-	853,014	972,032

* The investments in preference shares are not classified as equity holdings as they include liquidation preference rights that determine the repayment (or multiple thereof) of the original investment in the event of a liquidation event such as a take-over.

During the six months to 31 July 2023, the investment in Oddity was transferred from Level 3 to Level 1 on becoming listed.

During the year ended 31 January 2023, no investments were transferred from Level 3 to Level 1 on becoming listed.

The valuation techniques used by the Company are explained in the accounting policies on page 50 of the Company's Annual Report and Financial Statements for the year to 31 January 2023. Listed investments are categorised as Level 1 if they are valued using unadjusted quoted prices for identical instruments in an active market and as Level 2 if they do not meet all these criteria but are, nonetheless, valued using market data. The Company's holdings in unlisted investments are categorised as Level 3 unobservable data is a significant input to their fair value measurements.

Glossary of terms and alternative performance measures ('APM')

Shareholders' funds and Net Asset Value

Shareholders' Funds is the value of all assets held less all liabilities, with borrowings deducted at book cost. Net Asset Value (NAV) is the value of all assets held less all liabilities, with borrowings deducted at either fair value or par value. Per share amounts are calculated by dividing the relevant figure by the number of ordinary shares in issue.

Net current assets

Net liquid assets comprise current assets less current liabilities (excluding borrowings).

(Discount)/premium (APM)

As stock markets and share prices vary, an investment company's share price is rarely the same as its NAV. When the share price is lower than the NAV per share it is said to be trading at a discount. The size of the discount is calculated by subtracting the share price from the NAV per share and is usually expressed as a percentage of the NAV per share. If the share price is higher than the NAV per share, it is said to be trading at a premium.

Sustainable finance disclosure regulation ('SFDR')

The EU Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation ('SFDR') does not have a direct impact in the UK due to Brexit, however, it applies to third-country products marketed in the EU. As The Schiehallion Fund Limited is marketed in the EU by the AIFM, BG & Co Limited, via the National Private Placement Regime (NPPR) the following disclosures have been provided to comply with the high-level requirements of SFDR.

The AIFM has adopted Baillie Gifford & Co's ESG Principles and Guidelines as its policy on integration of sustainability risks in investment decisions.

Baillie Gifford & Co believes that a company cannot be financially sustainable in the long run if its approach to business is fundamentally out of line with changing societal expectations. It defines 'sustainability' as a deliberately broad concept which encapsulates a company's purpose, values, business model, culture, and operating practices.

Baillie Gifford & Co's approach to investment is based on identifying and holding high quality growth businesses that enjoy sustainable competitive advantages in their marketplace. To do this it looks beyond current financial performance, undertaking proprietary research to build an in-depth knowledge of an individual company and a view on its long-term prospects. This includes the consideration of sustainability factors (environmental, social and/or governance matters) which it believes will positively or negatively influence the financial returns of an investment.

The likely impact on the return of the portfolio from a potential or actual material decline in the value of investment due to the occurrence of an environmental, social or governance event or condition will vary and will depend on several factors including but not limited to the type, extent, complexity and duration of an event or condition, prevailing market conditions and existence of any mitigating factors.

Whilst consideration is given to sustainability matters, there are no restrictions on the investment universe of the Company, unless otherwise stated within in its Investment Objective & Policy. Baillie Gifford & Co can invest in any companies it believes could create beneficial long-term returns for investors. However, this might result in investments being made in companies that ultimately cause a negative outcome for the environment or society.

More detail on the Managers' approach to sustainability can be found in the Governance and Sustainability Principles and Guidelines document, available publicly on the Baillie Gifford website bailliegifford.com

The underlying investments established under the EU Taxonomy Regulation do not take into account the EU criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities.
