Commentary

July 2024 Investment Summary

A positive month for the Active range with returns ranging from +0.66% for Active 2 to +0.92% for Active 4.
P Acc share class with data sourced from FE analytics as at 31 July 2024.

July 2024 was a modest month for portfolios generally.

Most major equity markets rose in July led by the US, Asian and emerging markets. The Nasdaq and S&P 500 climbed further on the previous month, despite seeing a sharp rotation from growth to smaller-cap value stocks which are more sensitive to interest rate cuts. Real estate, utilities and financials led the sector-wise performance while technology lagged. The FTSE 100 performed well following Labours general election win, Stoxx Europe 600 edged up over the month as no outright majority was achieved in France's parliamentary election. European markets have held steady to date post the election result..

US labour market government data this month softened showing payrolls increased by 114,000 in July, considerably lower than forecasts and down from the previous month. However evidence of the US labour markets resilience was seen with smaller than expected unemployment benefit increases, while US retail sales measuring the quantity of goods bought, rose more than expected. Consumer confidence dropped to an eight-month low in July, as households remain concerned over the impact of stubborn inflation on their pay checks. Unemployment data ticked up again slightly to 4.3% from 4.1% and to its highest level since October 2021.

Tensions in the Middle East continue as fears over an all-out conflict remain intensified after Israel targeted Hizbollah and Hamas leaders in Beirut and Tehran. Senior EU diplomats are holding critical talks in Iran's capital as White House officials have held discussions in Saudi Arabia. The conflicts impact remains limited on the global economy. Brent Crude prices have fallen to $81/barrel from $86/barrel in July.

Central banks are warming to the idea of rate cuts. Investors and central banks continue to focus on key data points that could provide insight into the relative health of economies, while corporate earnings will be in focus as well.

WS Prudential Risk Managed Active - Tactical asset allocation activity

Our equity position is currently +1.25%, made up of a diversified basket across the US, UK, Asia and GEM. This is funded from a small European credit and cash underweights, with an overweight to US Treasuries.
