Objective and investment policy

Objective

To achieve a total return (the combination of income and capital growth), after all costs and charges have been taken, over any five year period.

Investment Policy

To invest at least 80% of the fund worldwide (including emerging markets, which are countries whose economies are progressing towards becoming advanced) in the shares of infrastructure companies (companies which own and operate physical infrastructure assets such as toll roads, airports, railways, electric and gas transmission and distribution, water and sewage).

The fund may also invest up to 20% in infrastructure companies, money market instruments (which are short term loans that pay interest) and cash.

Investments in collective investment schemes will be limited to 10%.

The investment manager seeks to invest in infrastructure companies that it considers operate infrastructure assets that provide essential services in support of communities and their respective economies and that in its view will produce superior growth over the long term taking into account a number of factors including strategic position, price structure, regulatory framework, cash flow stability and predictability.

Risk and reward profile

- This indicator shows how much a fund has risen and fallen in the past, and therefore how much a fund's returns have varied. It is a measure of a fund's volatility. The higher a fund's past volatility, the higher the number on the scale and the greater the risk that investors in that fund may have made losses as well as gains. The lowest number on the scale does not mean that a fund is risk free.
- The fund has been classed as 5 because its volatility has been measured as above average.
- This indicator is based on historical data and may not be a reliable indication of the future risk profile of this fund.

- The risk and reward profile shown is not guaranteed to remain the same and may shift over time. The lowest number on the scale does not mean that a fund is risk free.
- Currency Risk: As the fund can be exposed to different currencies, changes in exchange rates may decrease the value of your investment.
- Counterparty Risk: The failure of a firm involved in a transaction with the fund or providing services to the fund may expose the fund to financial loss.
- Emerging Markets Risk: The fund may invest in emerging markets, which are markets in countries that are developing. Emerging markets may have more political and economic risks than developed markets, resulting in price movements that may cause a loss to the fund.
- Concentration Risk: The fund is largely invested in companies which have exposure to infrastructure. This may mean the fund is more sensitive to price swings than other funds.
- For more information about the fund's risks please see the Risk Factors section of the prospectus which is available at www.waystone.com.
