Manager Commentary

Smaller companies bounced back in May, led by the UK and Europe. North American smaller companies also delivered a good return. In contrast, Japan and the emerging markets lagged. Economic data on the whole surpassed expectations in the UK, but disappointed in the US, Japan and the emerging markets. In general, company earnings reports have been better than expected, leading to upgrades of profit forecasts. Takeover and capital markets activity picked up in May. During the month, we saw some signs of speculation returning to the stock market, with 'meme' stocks and heavily shorted companies rallying.

The Company's Net Asset Value (NAV) rose during the month. After a period of narrowing, the discount widened a little in May. The movement in the Company's NAV was in line with the Benchmark; however, the share price underperformed.

In North America, our portfolio underperformed the local small-cap market return. Shares in construction materials producer Eagle Materials lagged after adverse weather affected the company's sales volumes at the start of the year. Payments processor WEX fell after a customer downsized its contract with the company. Crop protection chemicals producer American Vanguard lowered its earnings forecast for the year after it suspended the sale of one of its products. On the positive side, helicopter transportation services provider Bristow Group released long-term earnings forecasts that exceeded market expectations. Shares in Kirby rose as enthusiasm grew over prospects for the company's power generation business. Western and workwear retailer Boot Barn Holdings reported good results, with improving demand and solid new store growth.

We were slightly behind the benchmark in the UK during May. On the upside, speciality foam manufacturer Zotefoams reported strong sales growth and revealed two new commercial agreements. Defence services company QinetiQ Group also did well, helped by strong growth in its European business. Better sentiment in the UK housing market lifted homebuilder Crest Nicholson. On the negative side, wet weather affected food service demand at food distributor Kitwave Group. Investors took profits in alternative asset manager Mercia Asset Management, and speciality electronics producer TT Electronics continued to see end market weakness for its products.

The European portion of the portfolio outperformed during the month. Karnov Group, the Swedish provider of information services, received a takeover bid from private equity at a 28% premium to the previous share price. Sdipotech, the Swedish infrastructure technology business, and Planisware, the French provider of project software, both reported impressive organic revenue growth at the start of the year. Less positively, Schoeller-Bleckmann, the Austrian-based provider of drilling equipment to the oil and gas industry, underperformed as the oil price fell and competition in the US intensified. Carel Industries, the specialist in controls for heating and air conditioning systems, reported disappointing results because of challenging end markets. Profits were taken in events ticketing business CTS Eventim leading to a sell-off in the company's shares.

Performance in Japan was ahead of the MSCI Japan Small Cap Index during the month. Toymaker Tomy saw strong domestic sales growth and revealed ambitious long-term financial targets. The end of the Bank of Japan's negative interest-rate policy continued to lift the regional bank sector, and this included Nishi-Nippon Financial Holdings. The demand outlook for wire and cable manufacturer SWCC's products continued to strengthen because of increased investment in Japan's power infrastructure. Detractors included pharmacy store operator QOL Holdings, which suffered from government-led revisions to drug prices. Higher bond yields hurt property-related businesses Nomura Real Estate Holdings and Tosei. The Eastspring managed smaller companies fund holding had a good month, with value stocks remaining in favour.

The Rest of World fund holdings fell slightly during the month. The Scottish Oriental Smaller Companies Trust and the Pinebridge Asia ex Japan Smaller Companies and Schroders Global Emerging Market Smaller Companies funds lagged. On the other hand, the Utilico Emerging Markets Trust outperformed.

Key risks

Values may fall as well as rise and investors may not get back the full amount invested. Income from investments may fluctuate. Changes in rates of exchange may have an adverse effect on the value, price or income of investments. Where investments are made in emerging markets, or smaller companies, their potential volatility may increase the risk to the value of, and the income from the investment. If markets fall, gearing can magnify the negative impact on performance.
