

M&G Global Listed Infrastructure Fund Sterling Class I – Income shares

Monthly Fund Review as at 31 May 2024

For investment professionals only

Highlights

- In May, global equities rose, with the MSCI ACWI Index recouping its losses from April. Europe led the rebound, closely followed by the US, where the major indices – the S&P 500 Index, Dow Jones Industrial Average and the NASDAQ Composite Index – reached new all-time highs. Asia Pacific underperformed.
- National Grid weighed on fund performance as the company's shares reacted negatively to plans for a substantial investment programme to upgrade its network ready for the electrification of the economy. Eversource Energy and INPP also detracted from performance.
- Performance this month was mainly driven by the fund's overweight positioning in utilities, our holdings in AES, NextEra and NextEra Energy Partners aided performance. American Tower and Crown Castle structured as Real Estate Investment Trusts (REITS) also rebounded.

The main risks associated with this fund

For any past performance shown, please note that past performance is not a guide to future performance.

The value and income from the fund's assets will go down as well as up. This will cause the value of your investment to fall as well as rise. There is no guarantee that the fund will achieve its objective and you may get back less than you originally invested.

The fund holds a small number of investments, and therefore a fall in the value of a single investment may have a greater impact than if it held a larger number of investments.

The fund can be exposed to different currencies. Movements in currency exchange rates may adversely affect the value of your investment.

Further risk factors that apply to the fund can be found in the fund's Prospectus.
