The Fund aims to achieve capital appreciation over the long term. Capital invested in the Fund is at risk and there is no guarantee that the investment objective will be met. The Fund may invest up to 90% of the scheme property in riskier assets providing potential for more aggressive growth, such as equities, indirect exposure to listed real estate, listed infrastructure and commodities. The Fund may use currency hedging techniques to reduce exposure to currencies other than Sterling. The fund utilises both active management and passive strategies in its implementation.

The Multi Asset Growth Funds Range

What happened this month

The Fund delivered a negative return in April. Emerging markets were driven higher by Chinese equities, which reached seven-month highs on improved sentiment due to further relaxing of property market restrictions by the authorities. UK equity equities also benefited from stronger commodity prices, in particular the energy and mining space, amid rising copper prices and news of a takeover bid for Anglo American. However, investors elsewhere became more cautious on the back of potentially fewer interest rate cuts amid stubbornly high US inflation. As such, the higher for longer interest rate narrative dominated, putting pressure on both equity and fixed income assets. In this market environment, the performance of our large exposure to equities was negative, and our convertible bonds exposure was unhelpful due to their sensitivity to equities. Within equities, our bias away from US equities was helpful as stubborn inflation in the region led to a pushback on rate cuts. In contrast, our tilt towards UK and emerging market equities was beneficial, as these regions fared better and delivered positive returns. Our active management within equities detracted, mostly due to negative excess returns from the UK Equity Fund after a strong Q1. Meanwhile, our small allocation to listed real estate exposure detracted given the higher rates environment. Our small exposure to commodities was helpful due to higher gold and copper prices over the period.
