COMMENTARY

We, like others, have highlighted the relative cheapness of UK equities where many well-run, cash generative, strong balance sheet companies can be found. While domestic and international institutional investors have chosen to overlook them in favour of global franchises, it is inevitable that investors such as ourselves are joined in appreciating these UK companies by acquisitive companies from overseas.

It was pleasing to see the UK's FTSE All Share post a positive 2.5% outcome in April, leading the regional outcomes which were largely in negative territory. The FTSE All World posted a negative return of 2.3%.

Japan's Topix and the US S&P 500 indices were the equity indices that suffered the most having sparkled in Q1. Both were over 3% lower in April despite a late recovery.

The US dollar continues to benefit from its interest rate differential with other leading countries' currencies. The key sufferer continues to be the Japanese yen, the base for speculative shorts that were squeezed by Bank of Japan currency intervention on the penultimate day of April. Sterling was relatively stable against a stronger US currency.

Debt markets struggled with the prospect of higher for longer official interest rates and stickier than anticipated inflation albeit within a declining trend. While spreads on corporate bonds remained tight, the rising yields of their government counterparts led to a capital depreciation in April. The higher carry yield from high yield bonds contributed to a least negative bond outcome.

Copper was the star metal in April, and a significant contributor to fund performance, as scarcity of future supply helped it appreciate by 15% in the month. The search for copper supply was highlighted by BHP's initial bid for Anglo American.

Gold had another good month, up 4.5%. Central banks have been consistent buyers and the People's Bank of China (PBOC) has been a leading purchaser. Oil trended higher on Middle East concerns but was actually lower on the month.
