INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT
Brown Advisory US Smaller Companies Fund
For the six months ended 30th April, 2023

The objective of the Brown Advisory US Smaller Companies Fund is capital appreciation over the long-term. The net asset value of the B USD shares has returned the following cumulative performance:

- Over the last six months: 3.54% (against that of its benchmark, the Russell 2000 Growth Index of -0.42%)
- Over the last five years: 48.85% (vs. benchmark of 20.51%)
- Since Inception: 248.30% (vs. benchmark of 192.05%)

We strive to be balanced in our investment approach. Our focus has been and will remain generating solid risk-adjusted returns over time. We attempt to drive gains through security selection while mitigating downside risk through a portfolio architecture underpinned by high asset quality, ample diversification, and a prudent valuation discipline. Simply put, we seek to find durable business models that can compound growth well into the future.

As everyone knows, 2022 was a challenging year for equity investors. Fortunately, we have seen some improvement over the last six months as the Fund has been able to produce modest gains. We are still dealing with tremendous crosscurrents both economically and geopolitically. We do not possess a crystal ball, so we strive to continuously prepare ourselves (and the portfolio) for what may lie ahead. Our team has been hard at work building a list of potential new ideas, that will hopefully serve us well over the coming months and years, as market volatility arises. Our goal is always to leverage our collective knowledge of the U.S. small-capitalization universe to allocate your capital wisely and productively.

The architecture of the portfolio has not been altered dramatically during the six-month period. Our subtle movements have deemphasized cyclical areas of the market such as technology, consumer discretionary and industrials, while modestly leaning into segments such as health care. Please note that these tilts in capital allocation were “bottom-up” in nature, based upon our team’s idea flow, and not any macro prognostications. While our sector skews have aided results recently, we are more pleased that our stock selection has been especially additive. Overall, industrials and information technology showed the largest positive contribution to results and only consumer staples and discretionary were modest detractors for the period.

Since most of our sector attribution is determined by the individual constituents we hold versus the benchmark, it is informative to highlight the top and bottom contributors of late. NeoGenomics (NEO) bounced back noticeably from a difficult period thanks to a new, operationally focused management team. Churchill Downs (CHDN) was another solid performer as its regional gaming properties have remained resilient and interest in its flagship property, the Kentucky Derby, continues to grow on a global basis. And, finally, life science tools company, Bruker Corporation, has produced a string of strong results, enabling the stock to appreciate solidly during the period. On the negative side of the ledger, HealthEquity (HQY) declined as investors have come to believe that interest rates are set to decline, negatively impacting the company’s “float” income. Alignment Healthcare (ALHC), a Medicare Advantage plan operator, moved lower due to member growth coming in modestly below its targets. And, Genpact (G), a business process outsourcer, moved slightly lower.

We believe this is one of the most challenging environments to invest over the last 20 years. While our opportunity set remains more attractive today than in the high valuation regime recently experienced, slowing economic growth and the tremendous disruption (and opportunity) from artificial intelligence remain potentially highly impactful. We remain poised to lean into our stock selection discipline to create value, as a dynamic world spins on.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT
Brown Advisory US Equity Growth Fund
For the six months ended 30th April, 2023

The objective of the US Equity Growth Fund is capital appreciation over the long-term. The net asset value of the B USD shares has returned the following cumulative performance:

- Over the last six months: 10.12% (against that of its benchmark, the Russell 1000 Growth Net Index, of 11.34%)
- Over the last five years: 57.82% (vs. benchmark of 87.97%)
- Since Inception: 384.20% (vs. benchmark of 513.28%)

In the period from 1st November, 2022 to 30th April, 2023, the US Equity Growth Fund Class B USD returned 10.1% vs. 11.3% for the Russell 1000 Growth Net Index. Rising interest rates have negatively impacted valuations over the last several quarters, even for companies that have dominant market positions and meaningful growth opportunities. Even though there is uncertainty as to when interest rates and the macroeconomic environment may stabilize, our focus remains entirely on the fundamentals of the Fund's holdings.

While the information technology sector was the biggest performance detractor on a relative basis during the period, our holdings did drive strong absolute returns for the Fund. Atlassian, a provider of software collaboration tools for IT teams, lowered guidance and traded down as the company's cloud business has been impacted in the short term by the ongoing macroeconomic headwinds. Longer-term, we expect the headwinds to stabilize and the company to benefit from the continued migration to the cloud. NVIDIA Corporation was the top contributing company and was up over 100% during the period. NVIDIA is the market leader in advanced graphic processing units and traded up due to strong financial results and investor excitement for Artificial Intelligence, broadly.

The health care and consumer discretionary sectors were the biggest contributors to performance on a relative basis during the period. Align Technology, the maker of Invisalign, was up over 60% during the period. The company's most recent financial results positively surprised, with the company reporting a modest increase in Case starts (versus expectations of a decline), and reversing four quarters of sequential decline. While the company commented on the uncertain macroeconomic environment, the management team remains confident in the large market opportunities for both adults and teens.

Activity in the Fund picked up during the period and we initiated positions in two businesses: Progressive Corporation and CoStar Group. CoStar Group controls one of the largest commercial real estate databases that is leveraged by a variety of industry stakeholders (brokers, lenders, investors, and property owners). This product, CoStar Suite, represents about 40% of revenues and we believe there are opportunities to drive growth through the integration of additional datasets and international expansion. Progressive Corporation, the direct-to-consumer property and casualty insurance company, is set up to leverage its substantial scale advantage and expand its market share, in a highly fragmented industry.

The Fund also exited four companies that have performed well, in our view, over the course of our ownership period: Sherwin-Williams, Roper Technologies, L3 Harris Technologies, and Brown-Forman. Brown-Forman's resiliency had been reflected in the stock's performance during a challenging macroeconomic environment and we believe the company also benefited from a post-COVID restocking across the industry (i.e. liquor retailers, distributors, and restaurants). With the restocking tailwind mostly behind them, we were less confident in the company's ability to meet the growth requirement for the Fund and exited the position. Lastly, we recently exited L3Harris, as the company has outperformed both our fundamental and valuation expectations. Recalling our initial thesis behind owning the business, the merging of L3 and Harris has proved accretive to financial results and the stock price over the last several years.

While most large-cap growth stocks have traded based on the direction of interest rates over the last few quarters, we believe our companies continue to execute well, fundamentally. The volatile markets also presented us with the opportunity to add two great business models to the Fund.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

NeoGenomics (NEO) bounced back noticeably from a difficult period thanks to a new, operationally focused management team. Churchill Downs (CHDN) was another solid performer as its regional gaming properties have remained resilient and interest in its flagship property, the Kentucky Derby, continues to grow on a global basis. And, finally, life science tools company, Bruker Corporation, has produced a string of strong results, enabling the stock to appreciate solidly during the period. On the negative side of the ledger, HealthEquity (HQY) declined as investors have come to believe that interest rates are set to decline, negatively impacting the company’s “float” income. Alignment Healthcare (ALHC), a Medicare Advantage plan operator, moved lower due to member growth coming in modestly below its targets. And, Genpact (G), a business process outsourcer, moved slightly lower.

We believe this is one of the most challenging environments to invest over the last 20 years. While our opportunity set remains more attractive today than in the high valuation regime recently experienced, slowing economic growth and the tremendous disruption (and opportunity) from artificial intelligence remain potentially highly impactful. We remain poised to lean into our stock selection discipline to create value, as a dynamic world spins on.

Small-Cap Fundamental Value (50%)

The Small-Cap Fundamental Value strategy outperformed its benchmark, the Russell 2000® Value Index, overall during the last six months. The strategy was up materially on an absolute basis for the fourth quarter in 2022 and then was down slightly in first quarter 2023. Small-cap value stocks generally have been trailing growth (especially large growth) stocks in first quarter 2023. The strategy ended the six-month period by outperforming its benchmark in April 2023.

For the six months ended 30th April, 2023

Investors continue to focus on Fed policy and its role in taming inflation. In addition, during the six-month period, the rapid failure of two major U.S. banks and Credit Suisse's emergency rescue has sparked broader concerns about liquidity and capital levels in the banking sector.

We invested in eleven new companies and exited from six companies during the past six months. The new holdings included three in financials, three in consumer discretionary, two in industrials, one in information technology, one in communication services, and one in materials. The sales included three in industrials, two in consumer discretionary, and one in health care.

As an example, we added Oxford Industries (OXM) during first quarter 2023. The company is a branded apparel company operating a family of brands including Tommy Bahama, Lilly Pulitzer and Southern Tide. We believe that OXM has navigated an especially challenging post-Covid environment exceptionally well, and that its performance during that period is not reflected in the stock price. We see catalysts as the integration of a recent acquisition, outperformance in a promotional environment, and continued success of growth initiatives for Tommy Bahama and emerging brands. Also, we exited our position in Helen of Troy (HELE) on concerns around the discretionary nature of the company's key brands and categories, most of which have experienced an outsized benefit from the pandemic. Additionally, the company is undergoing a new strategic plan, that we believe presents added risk with expectations for declining sales and margins for the next 12 months. At the current valuation, HELE is trading above high-quality peers with stock pricing in a bull case scenario despite macro and company-specific risk.

During the six-month period, Oceaneering International, Inc. was the largest contributor to performance for the strategy on both an absolute and relative basis. After a disappointing 1H22, OII's strong 3Q22 results, coupled with a favorable outlook for 2023, drove the stock performance during the period.

As we head into the future, we believe that we are well positioned and will continue to deliver attractive returns to our clients. We will continue to look for opportunities to put new ideas to work after long periods of due diligence, and believe that our process of teamwork and collaboration will allow us to successfully do so.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT
Brown Advisory US Flexible Equity Fund
For the six months ended 30th April, 2023

The objective of the Brown Advisory US Flexible Equity Fund is capital appreciation over the long-term. The net asset value of the B USD shares has returned the following cumulative performance:

- Over the last six months: 10.79% (against that of its benchmark, the S&P 500 Net Index, of 8.35%)
- Over the last five years: 66.71% (vs. benchmark of 67.45%)
- Since inception: 142.40% (vs. benchmark of 150.60%)

The six-month period was marked by shock followed by fear of contagion as three fast-growing and, in retrospect, seemingly overconfident banks, Silvergate, Silicon Valley Bank (SIVB) and Signature Bank, went into a sudden receivership. Silvergate had banked the crypto-currency space, so there was perhaps good reason to be sceptical of its standing, but Silicon Valley and Signature were supposedly “well capitalized” and as per their latest filings, met federal regulatory capital requirements. Yet, within days, both these banks failed as well.

The primary cause of their failure was likely the loss of confidence in the health of their balance sheets. Many of their customers with sizable deposits clamoured to get their money out, fearing that the doors of their bank could close, denying them access to their own money. The situation spiralled out of control as the word spread on social media, which then led to a liquidity crisis and a classic bank run. Since then, a few others have gotten caught in the “flight of deposit” vortex, and at least one other prominent bank is still fighting for survival.

The dramatic jacking up of interest rates by the Fed has exposed weaknesses in the banking sector. We believe the root of the problem lies in the massive fiscal and monetary stimulus instituted by the government during the pandemic, where money poured into the banking system, leading to a surge in deposits. With limited prospects of loan growth, banks purchased treasuries and mortgage securities that on the surface appeared “safe”. With extremely low interest rates, and the Fed signaling lower for a longer interest rate environment, some banks stretched on the duration of these securities, seeking higher returns. That bet, in retrospect, turned out to be disastrous, as the Fed did a U-turn on its stance and went on a rate hiking spree never experienced in the recent era. These supposedly “safe” securities lost significant value as interest rates rose. In some cases, the cumulative loss of the securities holdings, although unrealized, was enough to wipe out the entire tangible equity of a bank, creating legitimate concerns about the viability of the franchise.

Amongst our bank holdings, the two bank stocks that experienced a significant decline in value during the period were Charles Schwab and First Citizens. Charles Schwab was the biggest detractor to the portfolio’s return in the six-month period. Despite the sell-off, we still view the potential of a confidence crisis/bank run as a low probability event for both. The overarching concerns are mostly similar for the two institutions, but there are differences primarily due to the varying business models. Charles Schwab is primarily a brokerage, while First Citizens is a regional bank. The problem is a bit more pronounced with Charles Schwab, as they have a small loan portfolio but a significantly larger securities portfolio. The majority of these securities are in a “held to maturity” bucket, which precludes them from being written down. But one cannot ignore the fact that these securities are of lower value in the current higher interest rate environment. Since Schwab does not have to take any marks on these securities, it does not impact their capital levels, and so there are no immediate solvency concerns. In addition, unlike Silicon Valley Bank, more than 80% of customer deposits at Schwab are insured by government authorities, which significantly reduces the risk of customer deposit flight that could potentially lead to a bank run. More importantly, client assets have continued to flow into Schwab so far, which alleviates some of these concerns.

First Citizens also had a sell-off during the period along with other regional banks. That changed in a dramatic fashion when it was announced that First Citizens had successfully acquired Silicon Valley Bridge Bank from the FDIC. The stock shot up 50% during the day, more than erasing the previous decline. Ultimately, First Citizens returned 22.75% in the six-month period. The deal is significant and undoubtedly fortuitous. With this acquisition, in one single swoop First Citizens has doubled its assets as well as its loan portfolio without forking out a dime - at least for now. Of course, like any acquisition of a loan book, First Citizens is taking on the risk of future losses that may develop over time. But here too, First Citizens seemed to have negotiated favorable terms in the form of a partial backstop, as the FDIC has agreed to share 50% of loan losses, if the losses were to exceed $5B. Furthermore, an infusion of $35B of cash from FDIC at attractive terms allays any liquidity concerns and the risk of any future run on the bank.

For the six months ended 30th April, 2023

It is interesting to contrast the banking approach of First Citizens with that of the recently failed institutions. First Citizens is 125 years old and throughout its history, has been controlled and run largely by one family with a significant investment in the company. We think they approach banking conservatively and watch their investment very closely. Post the Great Financial Crisis, it made several FDIC assisted acquisitions, so when the Silicon Valley Bank situation arose, it seemed well-positioned to bid. It is also interesting to note that Silicon Valley and Signature Bank were two of the 15 peer banking institutions listed in the First Citizens 2023 proxy, but the comparability only went so far. It appears First Citizens made a very attractive deal, but there are risks that we will monitor.

Security selection was more impactful to the portfolio's return than sector allocation in the six-month period.

Communication services, consumer discretionary and consumer staples were our best-performing sectors relative to the S&P 500 Index. Communication services and consumer discretionary had a higher weighting and a higher return than the index. Consumer staples had a lower weighting but a higher return than the sector in the index. Meta Platforms in communication services and Booking Holdings in consumer discretionary were among the highest contributors to the portfolio's return in the period.

Information technology and real estate were our worst-performing sectors as compared to the S&P 500 Index. Information technology had a lower weighting and a similar return to the sector in the index. Real estate had a lower weighting, and our only holding in the sector fell while the sector in the S&P 500 Index rose.

We added three new investments, and two were eliminated since our annual report to shareholders.

Align Technology is an established leader in teeth straightening through their Invisalign product. The company has a solid track record of both innovation and commercial success. The stock sold off dramatically as sales slowed in the current economic environment due to the discretionary nature of their offering. In our view the stock offered compelling risk/reward in the medium to long-term and we invested in the shares.

Fiserv, Inc.'s key businesses are merchant acceptance, bank core processing and payments, which are mostly consolidated industries. A large portion of their revenue is recurring in nature, with 35% profit margins. The stock's price-to-earnings multiple shrunk in the recent past from trading at a premium to the market and we viewed the risk/reward as attractive. We eliminated PayPal Holdings in favour of investing in Fiserv, given some of the challenges PayPal is facing.

Walt Disney Co. has been in the news with the ignominious exit of CEO Bob Chapek and Bob Iger's return as CEO. Clearly, the company lacked effective leadership in a particularly tough time period. While we see a lot of franchise value, there are cyclical as well as secular challenges. We exited the position to make way for a potentially better idea.

We initiated a small position in Uber, a strong global consumer brand that has transformed rideshare across the globe. It has built a two-sided network of consumers and drivers at scale that is difficult to replicate. In the past, our biggest reservation of investing in Uber was their mentality of growth regardless of cost. We believe Uber's management has realized that in the long-run, profitable growth is what will drive value creation. We see the potential for their free cash flows to grow substantially if they can execute on their existing strategy and achieve their margin targets. We will be looking to scale our position at attractive prices and as we see business progress.

We always close our commentaries with the following statement to remind our clients and ourselves what we do as investors and what to expect over time.

The Flexible Equity team searches for investment bargains among long-term attractive businesses with shareholder-oriented managers – those with productive assets and productive managers. These businesses should have or develop competitive advantages that result in good business economics, managers who allocate capital well, the capacity to adjust to changes in the world and the ability to grow business value over time. Bargains in these types of stocks can arise for various reasons, but are often due to short-term investor perceptions, temporary business challenges that will improve, company or industry changes for the better or as-yet-unrecognized potential for long-term growth and development. Despite the occasional investment that will go awry, and stretches when the general stock market, or our investment selection, is unrewarding, we are optimistic about the long-term outlook for equities of good businesses purchased at reasonable prices and our ability to find them.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT
Brown Advisory Global Leaders Fund
For the six months ended 30th April, 2023

The objective of the Brown Advisory Global Leaders Fund is capital appreciation over the long-term. The net asset value of the CUS shares has returned the following cumulative performance:

- Over the last six months: 17.32% (against that of its benchmark, the MSCI All Country World Index, of 12.68%)
- Over the last five years: 58.92% (vs. the benchmark of 40.45%)
- Since inception: 117.40% (vs. the benchmark of 73.41%)

The reporting period was marked by high market volatility. We believe that volatile market environments allow us to leverage our investment selection and capital allocation processes to identify investment opportunities that offer attractive future returns. Following five new investments between January and September of 2022, we continued to be able to find new high-quality investments at attractive 5-year base case returns during the reporting period.

We made a new investment in London Stock Exchange Group (LSEG). We are very familiar with the exchanges globally, as they exhibit a number of the highly attractive characteristics we look for. Exchanges are essential pieces of financial market infrastructure that, often provide unique solutions to their clients. These businesses regularly have dominant market positions, multiple and strong moats protecting their business, high levels of profitability, high cash flow conversion, low capital intensity and structural growth drivers. LSEG specifically can be considered the leader in financial real time data with a leading position in indices (FTSE Russell), FX (FX All), fixed income trading (Tradeweb) and OTC derivatives clearing (London Clearing House). LSEG's moats could expand through self-help and substantial cross-selling, which should deliver increased customer value and foster higher pricing power over time. LSEG is also well positioned to capture demand for sustainable financial products. It has increased its sustainable solutions with its acquisitions of FTSE Russell, Beyond Ratings and Refinitiv. We believe that LSEG is actively striving for ESG to become a more material revenue driver in their offerings. We initiated a full position in the first quarter at an attractive mid-teens IRR in our base case by taking advantage of the temporary share overhang as the Thomson-Reuters and Blackstone consortium sells down its LSEG stake. We exited one investment, the Chinese technology company Tencent, after a four-year holding period in November, when our ability to fundamentally analyse Tencent had become permanently impaired and our ESG thesis was broken. The trigger for our decision to exit the position was the consolidation of Xi Jinping's power at the 20th National Congress in October and the implication that could have in terms of undermining sound governance principles for the company and a change in the direction of regulation in China, more generally.

Besides the new addition and deletion during the reporting period, the cyclical downturn in the semiconductor industry, Open AI's release of ChatGPT artificial intelligence API to the market and the U.S. banking sector crisis in the U.S. all created distinct moments of opportunity in our view. We followed our capital allocation discipline in combination with our embedded behavioural investing rules and conducted a number of drawdown reviews on companies affected by these events. In this context, we added for example to positions in semiconductor companies Marvell Technology and Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company, Alphabet and U.S. wealth manager Charles Schwab. During the six months leading up to 30th April, 2023, all sectors delivered positive performance with industrials and health care driving outperformance. Also, energy, a large detractor during the calendar year 2022, returned to contribute to outperformance.

Since day one of the Global Leaders strategy, we have looked for high-quality companies with superior customer outcomes that we believe are able to pass on prices and generate high levels of recurring revenue while requiring low leverage. We believe that by investing in those companies and having their economics compound over long periods of time, we can generate attractive returns for our investors.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT
Brown Advisory US Mid-Cap Growth Fund
For the six months ended 30th April, 2023

The objective of the US Mid-Cap Growth Fund is capital appreciation over the long-term. The net asset value of the US Mid-Cap Growth Fund Class C USD shares has returned the following cumulative performance:

- Over the last six months: 6.21% (against that of its benchmark, the Russell Midcap Growth Net Index, of 6.47%)
- Over the last five years: 41.32% (vs. benchmark of 51.93%)
- Since Inception: 69.30% (vs. benchmark of 80.68%)

U.S. equities rebounded the last six months, propelled by large-cap Tech stocks. Microsoft's share price surged 32% within this short period. That helped the Tech-heavy Russell Top 200 Growth Index climb 13%. Meanwhile, both the NASDAQ Composite and Apple's share price each advanced 11%. In contrast, small caps lost value.

Over the last six months, inflation eased, numerous economic indicators displayed signs of weakness, several banks faced challenges related to capital and/or deposits, and various commodity prices, including oil (-11%), experienced a downturn. These dynamics pushed the yield on the U.S. 10-year Treasury down 63 basis points to 3.45% and helped "growth" outpace "value" across the market cap spectrum. From a sector perspective, consumer and health care stocks drove most of the 6.5% return for the Russell Midcap Growth Index, as travel & leisure activity (and prices) continued to climb from pandemic lows and several of the previous year's losers snapped back smartly.

The Fund slightly underperformed its benchmark during the period primarily due to the impact of fees as "total effects" (the combination of allocation and selection effects) were mildly positive.

Top contributors during the period included Chipotle (CMG), Align technology (ALGN), and Ulta Beauty (ULTA). Chipotle experienced a positive shift in store traffic in January, which propelled its shares higher during the quarter. Align Technology, after witnessing sequential declines for four quarters, due to COVID-related disruptions, reported a modest increase in aligner case shipments, indicating stabilizing results and a positive growth trajectory moving forward. Ulta Beauty maintained exceptional same-store sales and margins, as customers increasingly returned to stores for in-person events, demonstrating sustained demand for beauty and skin-care products.

Top detractors during the period included Health Equity (HQY), Paycom Software (PAYC), and CrowdStrike (CRWD). Health Equity continues to post solid results as it emerges from pandemic headwinds. However, its shares tend to trade with an inverse correlation to the general level of interest rates and likely lost ground due to the aforementioned yield compression of the 10-year Treasury. Paycom, a provider of Human Capital Management software, continued to achieve solid results, supported by higher interest income. Nonetheless, concerns surrounding diminishing employment opportunities have kept shares in check the past several months. As the fourth quarter of 2022 approached, IT security spending was considered a relatively resilient area within enterprise budgets. However, CrowdStrike (alongside others in the industry) faced increased scrutiny of budget allocations, resulting in prolonged deal cycles.

During the period, the Fund added fourteen investments and exited ten positions. Changes spanned most sectors. Generally, we took advantage of heightened volatility and lower valuations to boost the quality and (what we believe to be) the portfolio's three-year return potential. The Fund's dollar turnover measured 32% over the last six months, above our long-term annual average, due to the change in market tone and heightened volatility. Given our 3- to 5-year investment time horizon, we expect turnover to range between 20% and 50% annually, depending on market conditions, portfolio needs, and opportunities.

As always, we remain committed to achieving attractive risk-adjusted returns over a full market cycle by owning a diversified portfolio of companies, each of which we believe could one day grow much larger. We thank you for your support and interest and look forward to updating you on our progress in six months.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

Brown Advisory US Sustainable Growth Fund
For the six months ended 30th April, 2023

The objective of the US Sustainable Growth Fund is capital appreciation over the long-term. The net asset value of the C USD shares has returned the following cumulative performance:

- Over the last 6 months: 13.09% (against its benchmark, the Russell 1000 Growth Index, of 11.34%)
- Over the last five years: 93.16% (v. benchmark of 87.97%)
- Since Inception: 142.80% (v. benchmark of 128.12%)

In the six-month period between 31st October, 2022 and 30th April, 2023, the strategy was up 13.09% and outperformed the benchmark, the Russell 1000 Growth Index, which was up 11.34% during that same period. As bottom-up, fundamental managers, the fund's performance is typically driven by stock selection. This period was no different, as the fund's outperformance was primarily attributable to favorable stock selection, with strong performance from our health care and consumer discretionary names outweighing the underperformance from our information technology and real estate holdings. From a sector allocation perspective, the largest detractors to relative returns were the fund's overweights to financials and health care, which was only partially offset by the positive attribution effect of our underweight to consumer discretionary and our lack of exposure to energy and consumer staples. As a reminder, our sector exposures are largely a byproduct of our bottom-up fundamental stock-picking, not a function of top-down macro inputs.

During this period, the market environment continued to be characterized by the same volatility that largely defined the last 6 quarters, as investor sentiment regarding the macro economy alternated between optimism and pessimism on a monthly basis. This market tumult was driven by persistent uncertainty about inflation and interest rates, as well as new concerns about a potential banking crisis and politically charged debt-ceiling negotiations. Acknowledging our inability to predict the duration or scale of these macroeconomic and geopolitical risks, we remain focused on our mandate to invest in high-quality growth-oriented companies that we believe will deliver capital appreciation over a long-term forward horizon. To identify attractive investment opportunities, our approach continues to center on the depth and quality of our due diligence; our focus on fundamental and sustainability drivers, including business models; and the price we pay for each stock.

While we do not seek to predict the macro environment, we do view the continued market uncertainty opportunistically, as markets tend to operate inefficiently during periods of volatility. In keeping with our active management discipline and long-term philosophy, our playbook during periods of volatility is to upgrade the portfolio by taking advantage of short-term dislocations that may not reflect a company's fundamental strengths or forward upside potential. Our trading activity during this period reflects that playbook, as we took advantage of lower valuations to add to a number of our existing holdings, where we believed fundamentals remained strong despite negative price action, including: Danaher, Blackstone, UnitedHealth Group, Home Depot, and Block, among others. We funded these adds by trimming back other portfolio names on strength, including Microsoft and several of our semi-conductor names that continued to benefit from investor excitement about generative artificial intelligence. We also initiated one new position and exited one existing holding during the period. Consistent with our one-in-one-out philosophy, we added Gartner to the portfolio in the first quarter of 2023, as a replacement for Enphase. In our view, this represents an upgrade to the portfolio because we believe Gartner has a superior business model, more durable growth potential, and less downside risk.

Reflecting on this challenging period, we are grateful for the trust our clients place in us to find the best investments in our universe at the intersection of strong fundamentals, sustainable business advantages, and attractive valuations. We are equally grateful for our long-standing team that continues to unassumingly rise to these expectations. This philosophy, team, and process has served us well over the past thirteen years, and we look forward to updating you on our progress in the months and quarters ahead.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT
Brown Advisory US All Cap SRI Fund
For the six months ended 30th April, 2023

The objective of the Brown Advisory US All Cap SRI Fund is capital appreciation over the long-term. The net asset value of the B USD shares has returned the following cumulative performance:

- Over the past six months: 8.76% (against that of its benchmark, the Russell 3000 Net Index, of 7.03%)
- Over the past 12 months: 2.08% (vs. the benchmark of 1.00%)
- Since Inception: 42.10% (vs. the benchmark of 46.47%)

This fund leverages two key facets of Brown Advisory's research process: a deep business and financial analysis, along with our proprietary ESG research. Our portfolio construction process also employs several negative screens to exclude companies that have meaningful exposure to controversial business involvement. Through objective portfolio analysis, the Portfolio Managers attempt to isolate stock selection as the primary driver of relative performance. The resulting portfolio seeks to outperform the Russell 3000 Index while staying within the confines of a socially responsible investment universe.

Six months ago, ChatGPT had yet to be launched, core CPI remained above 6% and no sizable regional U.S. banks had failed. While equities have generally risen over this period, the market's appreciation has been decidedly narrow in scope, with only a handful of mega-cap, tech-oriented stocks accounting for the vast majority of the broad Index's return.

While the Fed continued to battle inflation (with partial success) over the six months with additional rate hikes, this period will likely be remembered for two events. First, ChatGPT, an AI chatbot created by OpenAI, was launched at the end of November. Within two months, this effective large language model had 100 million active users – for comparison, it took nine months for TikTok to reach that number. The chatbot's success in very quickly generating text on a seemingly endless range of inquiries morphed into a fascinating race among the mega-cap tech companies to generate their own chatbot and to develop other potential use cases for generative AI. The technology's potential has captured the minds of investors who have bid up stocks such as NVDA, META, MSFT, AMZN and GOOG in recent months, all of which have seen meaningful valuation multiple expansion.

Next, in March, the U.S. banking system was shocked by the sudden failures of Silicon Valley Bank and Signature Bank, which were driven by an asset-liability mismatch during a period of rising interest rates along with a relatively large and nervous base of uninsured depositors. Since then, First Republic became the third bank to fail in 2023. While it appears (for now) that the Fed and federal government have contained the risk of further contagion, we are approaching yet another potential black swan event. Unless a bipartisan deal is reached over the next couple of weeks, the U.S. is at risk of defaulting on its debt for the first time in history should it fail to raise its debt limit. While a deal is the likely outcome, the fear of the unknown (along with the regional bank crisis) has instructed equity investors to hide out in the largest, most cash rich stocks in the Index, most specifically AAPL.

Despite our modest underweight to these stocks, the fund outperformed the Index over the six-month period driven by favorable stock selection, most notably within the health care and consumer discretionary sectors. While a handful of financial stocks became meaningful detractors following the March crisis, not owning AMZN had an even more negative impact on the relative performance.

While several names were added and deleted from the fund during the period, the overall turnover from these actions was light (4%-5%). Importantly, the fund is managed to limit factor exposures contributing to risk, and instead attempts to isolate stock selection as the key determinant of relative performance. We remain excited about the prospects of this fund over market cycles driven by a rigorous bottom-up approach to security analysis combined with a consistent, disciplined portfolio construction process.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT
BA Metropolis Global Value Fund
For the six months ended 30th April, 2023

This report covers the period from 31/10/2022 to 30/04/2023 for the BA Metropolis Global Value Fund.

Performance & Investment Activity

During the period under review the NAV of the fund increased by 20.04%.

At the beginning of the reporting period, the positions within the fund were trading at uniformly high levels of margin of safety compared to our intrinsic value assessment. One position was sold, Progressive Corp and Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company Limited (TSMC) was added. The Investment Managers trading activity within positions during the period up to the end of February was relatively low, but opportunities arose to further increase positions in Microsoft, Alphabet and Visa. The main sources of cash were State Street, Andritz, and Ashtead; for all three, share prices responded positively to strong trading updates.

Market volatility in March, driven by concerns about a potential banking crisis, presented favourable trading opportunities to enhance the risk-reward profile of the portfolio. Microsoft's share price started the year considerably lower than its peak 12 months earlier, allowing the position size to be increased. By March, the share price had recovered, and we were trimming at prices significantly higher than what we paid for them in January. Similarly, the State Street position was trimmed further as the share price rose, but it was subsequently rebuilt when the broader banking sector experienced a sell-off. State Street has a programme to buy back as much as 15% of its share capital in 2023. The lower the share price, the higher our share of its profits will be in the future, even if no more shares were purchased by the fund. A similar opportunity presented with Ashtead, which was a source of cash in February but then presented the opportunity to buy those shares back in late March. The Oracle share price is recovering back to previous highs and has been a source of cash. Progressive was sold from the fund as its share price hit new all-time highs and our view of intrinsic value. The cash raised was used to increase our positions in News Corp, Kubota and to initiate a new position in TSMC.

Following fresh information from the new Adidas management team, the Investment Managers reappraised their model for the company, which led to a reduction in intrinsic value. Whilst the margin of safety for Adidas remains healthy, exposure was reduced in favour of rebuilding the position in Berkshire Hathaway at prices well below the level at which it was significantly trimmed in position size 12 months ago.

The strong performance over the period, resulted in a slight compression in the margin of safety within the portfolio, however, it remains well above the long-term average.

Brown Advisory Global Leaders Sustainable Fund
For the six months ended 30th April, 2023

The objective of the Brown Advisory Global Leaders Sustainable Fund is capital appreciation over the long-term. The net asset value of the CUA shares has returned the following cumulative performance:

- Over the last 6 months: 16.11% (against that of its benchmark, the MSCI All Country World Index, of 12.68%)
- Over the last year: 2.74% (vs. benchmark of 2.06%)

We exited one investment, the Chinese technology company Tencent, after a four-year holding period in November, when our ability to fundamentally analyze Tencent had become permanently impaired and our ESG thesis was broken. The trigger for our decision to exit the position was the consolidation of Xi Jinping's power at the 20th National Congress in October and the implication that could have in terms of undermining sound governance principles for the company and a change in the direction of regulation in China, more generally.

Besides the new addition and deletion during the reporting period, the cyclical downturn in the semiconductor industry, Open AI's release of ChatGPT artificial intelligence API to the market and the U.S. banking sector crisis in the U.S. all created distinct moments of opportunity in our view. We followed our capital allocation discipline in combination with our embedded behavioural investing rules and conducted a number of drawdown reviews on companies affected by these events. In this context, we added for example to positions in semiconductor companies Marvell Technology and Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company, Alphabet and U.S. wealth manager Charles Schwab. During the six months leading up to 30th April, 2023, all sectors delivered positive performance with industrials and health care driving outperformance. Also, energy, a large detractor during the calendar year 2022, returned to contribute to outperformance.

Since day one of the Global Leaders strategy, we have looked for high-quality companies with superior customer outcomes that we believe are able to pass on prices and generate high levels of recurring revenue while requiring low leverage. We believe that by investing in those companies and having their economics compound over long periods of time, we can generate attractive returns for our investors.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT
BA Beutel Goodman US Value Fund
For the six months ended 30th April, 2023

The objective of the BA Beutel Goodman US Value Fund (the "Fund") is capital appreciation over the long-term.

Unless otherwise indicated, this report spans the six-month period ended 30th April, 2023 (the "period").

Results of Operations

The Fund's Class M USD shares recorded the following performance against the Russell 1000 Value Index (the "benchmark"):

- Over the past six months: 5.78% (vs. the benchmark of 4.54%)
- Over the past 12 months: 7.99% (vs. the benchmark of 1.21%)
- Since inception (from 30th November, 2020): 8.15% (vs. the benchmark of 8.52%)

The period saw U.S equity performance improve after a difficult 2022 for markets. Central banks worldwide began to temper the hawkish hiking cycle that had caused so much volatility with stocks in 2022. Inflation remains a real concern for central banks, but this is reduced from the historically high peaks reached in the summer of 2022. In March and April of 2023, the stability of the global banking system was called into question after the collapse of Silicon Valley Bank, Signature Bank and First Republic in the U.S, as well as Swiss banking giant Credit Suisse, which was acquired by UBS in a fire-sale deal. Amid this upheaval, regulators in the U.S. and Europe were quick to respond with measures designed to protect the banking system in their respective jurisdictions.

Against this backdrop, the Fund outperformed its benchmark. Key contributors to performance relative to the benchmark included a combination of stock selection and an underweight position in Financials, having no exposure to the underperforming Energy sector, as well as a combination of stock selection and an underweight in Health Care. Detractors from relative performance included stock selection in the Information Technology and Consumer Staples sectors, as well as an underweight in the outperforming Materials sector.

Over the period, the largest individual contributors to Fund performance on an absolute basis included Omnicom Group Inc., Kimberly-Clark Corp., Comcast Corporation, Tempur Sealy International Inc. and Interpublic Group of Companies Inc.

The largest individual detractors from the Fund's absolute performance included Gen Digital Inc., Harley-Davidson Inc., Kellogg Company, Amgen Inc. and MillerKnoll Inc.

Portfolio Activity

The sub-investment manager's portfolio management team (the "team") employs a stock-selection process that is based on identifying securities trading at significant discounts to their business value. The Fund's sector and stock weights are outcomes of the team's investment decisions based on bottom-up fundamentals and business quality. As a by product of the team's bottom-up investment process, market performance and general management activity, the following changes occurred in the Fund's portfolio during the period:

- The Fund's Communication Services, Information Technology, Consumer Discretionary and Materials sector weightings increased because of relative performance and the team's buy/sell activities
- The Fund's Health Care, Financials, Consumer Staples and Industrials sector weightings decreased because of relative performance and the team's buy/sell activities
- The Fund had no exposure to the Energy, Utilities and Real Estate sectors
- There were no new additions or liquidations from the Fund during the period.
- At period-end, there were 31 equity holdings in the Fund, the same as at the beginning of the period

Manager Outlook

At the end of 2022, consensus among economists was that the U.S. economy was set for a contraction in 2023. That hasn't occurred as of yet, with the labor market proving especially resilient. Equity investors seemed to disregard the various headwinds facing markets at the beginning of 2023 and piled back into mega-cap technology stocks. This had the effect of pushing index valuation levels back towards the extremes seen in 2021 and early 2022, once again fueling the valuation discount of Value stocks relative to their Growth counterparts.

We note that the market did not celebrate weakening fundamentals and cost rationalizations (i.e., mass firings) in technology companies in 2000, but it seemed to celebrate these in 2023. Cost rationalizations, however, are rarely implemented from a position of strength and typically lag the start of declining fundamentals. In general, we believe stock valuations remain high on both an absolute and relative basis.

Market Risk 2023

We believe the mini-crisis in the banking system has shown us early signs that the market is becoming concerned about balance sheet risk, though this concern seems to have been confined to regional banks and a few larger institutions. It is our view that investor focus may shift to broader areas of the market across sectors and stocks and that balance sheet risk will increase, likely leading to declining equity valuations which may present new investing opportunities.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

Brown Advisory Global Sustainable Total Return Bond Fund (GBP)
For the six months ended 30th April, 2023

The objective of the Fund is to target a positive total return (comprising current income and capital gains) above the Bank of England's SONIA Compounded Index (the "Target Benchmark") over a full economic cycle, by investing in a broad range of global fixed-income securities and associated FDIs and currencies. The Fund is not constrained by any benchmark.

The net asset value of the B GBP shares has returned the following cumulative performance:

- Over the last six months: 1.98% (against that of its target benchmark, SONIA Overnight, of 1.80% and its secondary benchmark, Bloomberg 1-10Yr GBP Hedged, of 3.53%)
- Since inception on 31st January, 2022: -4.04% (vs. target benchmark of 2.70% and vs. secondary benchmark of -4.99%)

The Brown Advisory Global Sustainable Total Return Bond Fund (GBP) takes a global, sustainable and dynamic approach to fixed income. We believe that dynamic asset allocation informed by comprehensive top-down macro analysis, combined with rigorous bottom up security selection and a differentiated sustainable investment approach, can deliver an attractive stream of income and risk-adjusted returns through the economic cycle while producing positive environmental and social impact.

Since our last annual letter in October, we have continued to see continued evidence to support our central macro scenario, which is that of a global economic slowdown driven by the extraordinary tightening of monetary policy that has been enacted over the past twelve months. As has been articulated by myriad central banks since the beginning of last year, we are cognisant of the long and variable lags that exist between the execution of monetary tightening and its impact on the real economy, but we have seen clear evidence that the pass-through is starting to bite. Many, if not most, of the leading indicators we watch in the US and other regions show a sharp slowdown, both in hard data and forward-looking survey data. Interest rate sensitive parts of the economy, such as the banking sector and commercial real estate, have started to show cracks; other parts of the market, such as private credit, significantly concern us and we believe that the proverbial shoe is primed to drop in upcoming quarters.

As was the case for much of last year, the portfolio has remained defensively positioned due to the above concerns about the end of this economic cycle over the past six months. But there has been an adjustment to our interest rate exposure, as we move closer to the end of the central bank rate hiking cycle. Developed market interest rates - as well as some select emerging market interest rates - have reached levels where we view their return profiles as compelling. As rates have begun to exhibit their traditional negative correlations to equities (something in short supply last year), we believe owning duration in the portfolio is important so that we can deliver on one of our main strategy objectives - to be the counterbalance and counterweight to equity risk and other risks in clients' portfolios. We have found in past cycles that many bond managers with similar mandates to ours, forget what their raison d'être truly is, and what their clients require as part of their broader asset allocation mix. We are laser-focused on this responsibility as we get late in the economic cycle, and believe strongly that this will allow us to continue to differentiate ourselves versus our peers, which has been our past experience in challenging market environments.

We have also tasked our analyst teams, both fundamental and ESG, to continue to "build the bench" of corporate credit names that we will want to own in the portfolio going forward, with a strong focus on fundamentals and its alignment with valuation and where the idiosyncratic sector cycle may differ from the broader economic cycle. Our belief is that valuation discipline in the latter stages of the broader economic cycle is paramount - not reaching for risk when you aren't being properly compensated for it, but confident to add when you are - and this will inform the pace of adding to our corporate credit exposure over the next few quarters. We are incredibly excited about the opportunity to generate extremely strong absolute performance in fixed income, when spread risk moves wider to meet the macro backdrop but continue to preach patience.

a) Basis of Preparation of Financial Statements

The condensed financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting standards generally accepted in Ireland and Irish statute comprising the Companies Act 2014, the European Communities (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations 2011, (as amended) (the “UCITS Regulations”). Accounting standards generally accepted in Ireland in preparing financial statements giving a true and fair view are those published by the Institute of Chartered Accountants in Ireland and issued by the Financial Reporting Council (“FRC”).

These unaudited condensed financial statements have been prepared in accordance with FRS 104 and should be read in conjunction with the audited financial statements for the year ended 31st October, 2022. For the audited financial statements for the year ended 31st October, 2022, securities were quoted, listed or traded on an exchange were valued at last traded price for financial reporting purposes.

The condensed financial statements are prepared under the historical cost convention as modified by the revaluation of financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss. Valuation time is 10 p.m. (GMT), on the relevant dealing day. The financial statements are prepared on a going concern basis

The format and certain wording of the condensed financial statements have been adapted from those contained in the Companies Act 2014 and FRS 102. The information required to be included in the statement of total recognised gains and losses and reconciliation of movements in shareholders funds, is, in the opinion of the Directors contained in the Condensed Statement of Comprehensive Income and the Condensed Statement of Changes in Net Assets attributable to Holders of Redeemable Participating Shares. The Company has availed of the exemption available to investment funds under FRS 102 not to prepare a cash flow statement.

b) Valuation of Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities at Fair Value through Profit or Loss

In accordance with FRS 102, the Company has classified its investments as financial assets or financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss.

Initial Measurement

Purchases and sales of financial instruments are accounted for at trade date for financial statement purposes. Realised gains and losses on disposals of financial instruments are calculated using the first in first out (FIFO) method for all sub-funds except for the Brown Advisory US Smaller Companies Fund which calculates realised gains and losses on disposals of financial instruments using the average cost method. Financial instruments categorised at fair value through profit or loss, are measured initially at fair value, with transaction costs for such instruments being recognised directly in the Condensed Statement of Comprehensive Income.

Subsequent Measurement

After initial measurement, the Company measures financial instruments which are classified at fair value through profit or loss, at their fair values. Fair value is the amount for which an asset could be exchanged, or a liability settled, between knowledgeable, willing parties in an arm's length transaction.

The fair value of financial instruments is based on their official quoted market prices on a recognised exchange or sourced from a reputable broker/counterparty in the case of non-exchange traded instruments, at the Statement of Financial Position date without any deduction for estimated future selling costs. Financial Assets are valued at their last quoted market price for pricing purposes and for financial reporting purposes.

If a quoted official market price is not available on a recognised stock exchange or from a broker/counterparty, the fair value of the financial instrument may be estimated by the Directors using valuation techniques, including use of recent arm's length market transactions, reference to the current fair value of another instrument that is substantially the same, discounted cash flow techniques or any other technique that provides a reliable estimate of prices obtained in actual market transactions. There were no investments valued in this manner as at 30th April, 2023.

Subsequent changes in the fair value of financial instruments at fair value through profit or loss are recognised in the Condensed Statement of Comprehensive Income.

c) Forward Foreign Currency Contracts

The Company may enter into forward foreign currency contracts. The fair value of open forward foreign currency contracts is calculated as the difference between the contractual rate and the current forward rate that would close out the contract on the valuation date. Net gains or losses on contracts which have been settled are included in the Condensed Statement of Comprehensive Income. Gains or losses on open forward foreign currency exchange contracts are reported as Financial Assets or Liabilities at Fair Value through Profit or Loss as appropriate in the Condensed Statement of Financial Position. Gains or losses on forward currency contracts are recognised in the Condensed Statement of Comprehensive Income.

During the period ended 30th April, 2023, the Brown Advisory US Smaller Companies Fund, the Brown Advisory US Equity Growth Fund, the Brown Advisory US Small Cap Blend Fund, the Brown Advisory US Flexible Equity Fund, the Brown Advisory Global Leaders Fund, the Brown Advisory US Mid-Cap Growth Fund, the Brown Advisory US Sustainable Growth Fund, the Brown Advisory Global Leaders Sustainable Fund, the BA Beutel Goodman US Value Fund, the Brown Advisory Global Sustainable Total Return Bond Fund (GBP) and the Brown Advisory Global Sustainable Total Return Bond Fund (USD) utilised forward foreign currency contracts for share class hedging purposes.

Futures contracts may include certain options on exchange-traded futures contracts. Initial margin deposits are made upon entering into futures contracts and are generally made in cash and cash equivalents. The fair value of futures contracts is based upon their quoted daily settlement prices. Changes in the value of open futures contracts are recognised as unrealised gains or losses on futures contracts until the contracts are terminated, at which time realised gains and losses are recognised. Gains or losses on open futures contracts are reported as Financial Assets or Liabilities at Fair Value through Profit or Loss as appropriate in the Condensed Statement of Financial Position. Gains or losses on open futures contracts are recognised in the Condensed Statement of Comprehensive Income.

e) Cash and Other Liquid Assets

Cash and other liquid assets will be valued at their face value together with accrued interest, where applicable, to the valuation point on the relevant dealing day unless, in the opinion of the Directors (in "consultation with" the Investment Manager and the Administrator), any adjustment should be made to reflect the true value thereof.

An umbrella cash collection account is maintained with Brown Brothers Harriman Trustee Services (Ireland) Limited, which has credit ratings of F1, as rated by Fitch, the balance in this account as of 30th April, 2023 is US$4,309,528 (31st October, 2022: US$560,706).

f) Dividend Policy

The Constitution empowers the Directors to declare dividends out of the profits of the relevant Fund being: (i) the accumulated revenue (consisting of all revenue accrued including interest and dividends) less expenses and/or (ii) realised and unrealised capital gains on the disposal/valuation of investments and other funds less realised and unrealised accumulated capital losses of the relevant Fund. The Directors may satisfy any dividend due to Shareholders in whole or in part by distributing to them in specie any of the assets of the relevant fund. A Shareholder may require the Company instead of transferring any assets in specie to him/her, to arrange for a sale of the assets and for payment to the Shareholder of the net proceeds of same.

The distributions on the distributing shares are recognised in the Condensed Statement of Comprehensive Income as finance costs when they are declared by the Board of Directors.

g) Transaction Costs

Transaction costs are the costs incurred in the acquisition, issue or disposal of financial assets and liabilities. Transaction costs include fees and commissions paid to agents, advisers, brokers and dealers, levies by regulatory agencies and securities exchanges, and transfer taxes and duties. Transaction costs do not include debt premiums or discounts, financing costs or internal administrative or holding costs. Transaction costs are recognised on the Condensed Statement of Comprehensive Income under "Expenses". Transaction costs on trades charged by the Depositary are recognised on the Condensed Comprehensive Income Statement under "Expenses".

h) Withholding Taxes

Dividends, interest and capital gains (if any) received on investments made by the Company may be subject to withholding taxes imposed by the country from which the investment income/gains are received and such taxes may not be recoverable by the Company or its Shareholders.

Dividend and interest income is shown gross of any non-recoverable withholding taxes, which are disclosed separately in the Condensed Statement of Comprehensive Income, net of any tax credits.

2 Financial Risk Management

Strategy in Using Financial Instruments

As an investment company, Brown Advisory Funds plc invests in equities and other investments so as to achieve its investment objectives.

The objective of the Funds, except for the Brown Advisory Global Leaders Fund, Brown Advisory Global Leaders Sustainable Fund, Brown Advisory Global Sustainable Total Return Bond Fund (GBP), Brown Advisory Global Sustainable Total Return Bond Fund (USD), and the Brown Advisory Latin American Fund, is to achieve capital appreciation by investing primarily in US equities. The objective of the Brown Advisory Global Leaders Fund and Brown Advisory Global Leaders Sustainable Fund is to achieve capital appreciation by investing primarily in global equities. The objective of the Brown Advisory Global Sustainable Total Return Bond Fund (GBP) is to target a positive total return (comprising current income and capital gains) above the Bank of England's SONIA Compounded Index) over a full economic cycle, by investing in a broad range of global fixed-income securities and associated FDIs and currencies. The objective of the Brown Advisory Global Sustainable Total Return Bond Fund (USD) is to target a positive total return (comprising current income and capital gains) above the Federal Reserve Bank of New York Secured Overnight Financing Rate (SOFR) Index over a full economic cycle, by investing in a broad range of global fixed-income securities and associated FDIs and currencies. The objective of Brown Advisory Latin American Fund was to achieve capital growth by investing primarily in shares of Latin American companies. In pursuing its investment objectives, the Company is exposed to a variety of financial risks: market risk (including market price risk, currency risk and interest rate risk), credit risk and liquidity risk that could result in a reduction in the Company's net assets.

The Company's overall risk management programme focuses on the unpredictability of financial markets and seeks to minimise potential adverse effects on the Funds' financial performance.

The risks and the Directors' approach to the management of the risks are as follows:

Market Risk

The fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument held by the Company may fluctuate because of changes in market prices. This market risk comprises three elements: market price risk, currency risk and interest rate risk. The Board of Directors reviews and agrees policies for managing these risks. The policies have remained substantially unchanged from those applying at the prior year end. The Company's Investment Manager assesses the exposure to market risk when making each investment decision and monitors the overall level of market risk on the whole of the investment portfolios on an ongoing basis.

The Company calculates its global risk exposure by using the commitment approach. Currency forwards will be used for hedging purposes only. Due to foreign exchange rate changes, changes to market values of underlying cash securities, or portfolio subscriptions/redemptions modest levels of inadvertent exposure may arise from time to time. In this case, the global exposures will be measured using the commitment approach based on the market value of the underlying assets i.e. the notional value of the currency leg(s). Exposures will be monitored on spreadsheets as at each valuation point.

Market Price Risk

Market price risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices.

The Company's assets consist principally of quoted equities, the values of which are determined by market forces. All security investments present a risk of loss of capital. The Investment Manager moderates this risk through a careful selection of securities within specified limits. The maximum risk resulting from financial instruments is determined by the fair value of the financial instruments.

The Board of Directors manages the market price risks inherent in the investment portfolios by ensuring full and timely access to relevant information from the Investment Manager. The Board of Directors meets regularly and at each meeting reviews investment performance and overall market positions. The Board monitors the Investment Manager's compliance with the Company's objectives.

An analysis of each Fund's investment portfolios is shown in the Statement of Investments. This shows the majority of the investments' value is in equity securities of US companies. Accordingly, there is a concentration of exposure to that country, though it is recognised that an investment's country of domicile or of listing does not necessarily equate to its exposure to the economic conditions in that country.

Currency Risk

Currency risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in foreign exchange rates.

In accordance with Company policy, the Investment Manager monitors the Company's currency position on a daily basis. The Board of Directors relies upon the Investment Manager to keep it informed of any material events.

Interest Rate Risk

Notwithstanding that changing interest rates may always have a consequential impact on the valuation of financial assets of any nature, including equity holdings, the majority of the Funds' financial assets and liabilities, except for the Brown Advisory Global Sustainable Total Return Bond Fund (GBP) and Brown Advisory Global Sustainable Total Return Bond Fund (USD) are non-interest bearing.

In accordance with Company policy, the Investment Manager monitors the Funds' overall interest sensitivity on a daily basis. The Board of Directors relies upon the Investment Manager to keep it informed of any material events.

Credit Risk

The Company takes on exposure to credit risk, which is the risk that a counterparty or issuer will be unable to pay amounts in full when due.

The majority of the Funds' financial assets, except for the Brown Advisory Global Sustainable Total Return Bond Fund (GBP) and Brown Advisory Global Sustainable Total Return Bond Fund (USD), are non-interest bearing equity securities. As a result, they are not subject to significant amounts of credit risk.

Credit risk is managed, in part, by the Funds' investment restrictions, including that, subject to other provisions set forth in the Prospectus:

- (a) each Fund may not invest more than 10% of Net Assets in transferable securities or money market instruments issued by the same body provided that;
- (b) the total value of transferable securities and money market instruments held in the issuing bodies in each of which it invests more than 5%, is less than 40%.

All transactions in listed securities are settled in a timely manner. The risk of default is considered minimal.

For cash accounts, funds deposited are liabilities of the banks, creating a debtor-creditor relationship between the bank and the Company. Cash accounts opened on the books of Brown Brothers Harriman & Co. are obligations of Brown Brothers Harriman & Co., while cash accounts opened on the books of a sub-custodian (agency accounts) are obligations of the sub-custodian. Accordingly, while Brown Brothers Harriman & Co. is responsible for exercising reasonable care in the administration of agency cash accounts, it is not liable for their repayment in the event the sub-custodian, by reason of its bankruptcy, insolvency or otherwise, fails to make repayment.

All cash at bank balances at the period end are held with Brown Brothers Harriman & Co., or with third party institutions approved by the Company on overnight deposit, or directly with a sub-custodian.

Brown Brothers Harriman & Co. performs both initial and ongoing due diligence on the sub-custodians in its global depository network. Such reviews include an assessment of the sub-custodian's financial strength and general reputation and standing and, at a minimum, meet the due diligence requirements established by applicable law. The financial analysis is focused on the sub-custodian bank's capital adequacy, asset quality, financial flexibility and strength, management expertise, earnings, and liquidity as key indicators of its financial standing in the market. These reviews are not audits.

In accordance with Company policy, the Investment Manager monitors the Funds' credit position on a daily basis. The Board of Directors relies upon the Investment Manager to keep it informed of any material events. There were no material changes to the Company's policies and processes for managing credit risk and the methods used to measure risk since the period end.

Liquidity Risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that an entity will encounter difficulty in meeting obligations associated with financial liabilities.

The Funds are exposed to daily cash redemptions of Redeemable Participating Shares. The Funds invest the majority of their assets in equities that are traded in an active market and can be readily disposed of. The Funds' listed securities are considered readily realisable as they are listed on a recognised stock exchange.

In accordance with Company policy, the Investment Manager monitors the Funds' liquidity position on a daily basis. The Board of Directors relies upon the Investment Manager to keep it informed of any material event. There were no material changes to the Company's policies and processes for managing liquidity risk and the methods used to measure risk since the period end.

Fair Value Estimation

FRS 102 on "Fair Value Disclosure" requires disclosure relating to the fair value hierarchy in which fair value measurements are categorised for assets and liabilities. The disclosures are based on a three-level fair value hierarchy for the inputs used in valuation techniques to measure fair value. Amendments were made to this FRS, revising the disclosure requirements for financial institutions. An entity shall apply these amendments for accounting periods beginning on or after 1 January 2017.

The Company has classified fair value measurements using a fair value hierarchy that reflects the significance of the inputs used in making the measurements.

The fair value hierarchy has the following levels:

- (i) Level 1: Investments, whose values are based on quoted market prices in active markets, and therefore are classified within level 1, include active listed equities. Quoted prices for these instruments are not adjusted.
- (ii) Level 2: Financial instruments that trade in markets that are not considered to be active but are valued based on quoted market prices, dealer quotations or alternative pricing sources supported by observable inputs are classified within level 2. These include over-the-counter traded derivatives. As level 2 investments include positions that are not traded in active markets and/or are subject to transfer restrictions, valuations may be adjusted to reflect illiquidity and/or non-transferability, which are generally based on available market information.
- (iii) Level 3: Investments classified within level 3 have significant unobservable inputs, as they trade infrequently. Pricing inputs are unobservable for the investment and includes situations where there is little, if any, market activity for the instrument. The inputs into the determination of fair value require significant management judgement or estimation. As observable prices are not available for these securities, a Fund would use valuation techniques to derive the fair value. The level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurement is categorised in its entirety is determined on the basis of the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety. For this purpose, the significance of an input is assessed against the fair value measurement in its entirety. If a fair value measurement uses observable inputs that require significant adjustment based on unobservable inputs, that measurement is a level 3 measurement. Assessing the significance of a particular input to the fair value measurement in its entirety requires judgement, considering factors specific to the financial asset or liability.

The determination of what constitutes ‘observable’ requires significant judgement by the Directors in consultation with the Investment Adviser. The Directors consider observable data to be that market data that is readily available, regularly distributed or updated, reliable and verifiable, not proprietary, and provided by independent sources that are actively involved in the relevant market.

The following tables provide an analysis within the fair value hierarchy of the Funds’ financial assets and liabilities measured at fair value at 30th April, 2023 and 31st October, 2022:

6 Efficient Portfolio Management

The Company may employ techniques and instruments relating to transferable securities and/or other financial instruments in which it invests for investment purposes or hedging.

Where a Fund invests in financial derivative instruments for such purposes, a risk management process will be submitted to the Central Bank of Ireland by the Company, prior to the Fund engaging in such transactions in accordance with the Central Bank's requirements and UCITS Regulations. The Company on behalf of the Funds, will on request, provide supplementary information to Shareholders relating to the risk management methods employed, including the quantitative limits that are applied and any recent developments in the risk and yield characteristics of the main categories of investments.

During the six months ended 30th April, 2023, the Company engaged in currency class hedging to hedge against movements in the values of Hedged Share Classes as a result of changes in the exchange rates against the functional currency of the Fund of the respective currencies. The currency class hedging involves utilising forward foreign exchange contracts to provide a return hedged against fluctuations. This currency hedging policy will seek to limit Shareholders' risk of loss arising from an appreciation in the value of the currency of the Hedged Share Class relative to the value of the functional currency of the Fund.

The counterparties and the details of all open forward foreign currency contracts as at 30th April, 2023 are disclosed in the Statement of Investments.

7 Soft Commissions

During the six months ended 30th April, 2023, the Investment Manager entered into soft commission arrangements with brokers/dealers whereby certain goods and services used by the Investment Manager are paid for by the commissions generated from trades executed under these arrangements. The goods and services are directly relevant and are used to assist in the provision to clients of investment management services or for valuation or performance measurement of portfolios.

These arrangements do not affect a broker's duty to provide best execution.
